

Three Kinds of People

By Rick McCorkle

There are only three kinds of people in the world: Those who make it happen, those who watch it happen, and those who say “What happened?” There’s some humor in this old adage, but it has now become deadly serious. The first kind of people, those who make it happen, are rolling a juggernaut of socialism over freedom in America at an alarming rate of speed. Socialism is a word that just doesn’t sound as bad as it is. Look it up in an old dictionary you may have lying around, because the new ones will make it sound better than it is. It’s a system in which the government owns and controls everything, and there is no private property! Take a minute to think about that. No freedom, and no rights to anything. It is the exact thing that the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution were designed to prevent. It’s also an evil thing that has always made people utterly miserable. Prison is supposed to be a miserable place that people want to never have to go to, but socialism turns the whole country into a prison and makes everyone a prisoner but the elite, privileged few who run it. While European countries are beginning to realize that socialism is fatally flawed, Barack Obama embraces it wholeheartedly and he’s been implementing it ever since he took office. Our freedoms are being crushed and ground to dust while we stand by and watch helplessly. Let’s call it by a more accurate name: tyranny.

Tyrants are quick to act in difficult times when people are having financial problems. Are you willing to give up your freedom for a little money from the government and maybe some free health insurance? In the Old Testament, Esau gave up his birthright for a bowl of stew. It says he despised his birthright. Many Americans are doing that now for the mere promise of a handout. But the handouts have strings attached, actually more like heavy ropes attached that cut into your flesh and can’t be untied. Government health care isn’t about health care, it’s about total control. If the government controls your health care, then politicians control your very life, and eventually you won’t get that care if you don’t think like them. That’s the history of the world, and it won’t be any different in America. America has always been a place that people in oppressed countries want to escape to. But pretty soon, we will solve our immigration problems because people won’t want to come here anymore. They’ll want to escape.

Which of the three kinds of people are you? Are you the second kind that feels angry and disgusted but does nothing? Are you the third kind that doesn’t grasp the reality of what’s happening to your country, so you stay wrapped up in your own little world and ignore it? For a wake up call, consider what happened in Iran while Barack Obama did nothing. Elections were a sham and protestors were shot down in the streets. This could happen in America unless you do something now. You can start by reading the Declaration of Independence today. It only takes a few minutes. Would you have signed it in 1776? Would you have pledged your life, all that you have, and your sacred honor to be free, or would you have sucked up to King George to be taken care of by him? We are living in those same times now, my friends. Our president is a man who would be king, and he's making false promises of a utopian society.

There are organizations that stand for the founding principles of America and for freedom, and they need your time and money now. There are good, conservative publications that will give you important facts to defend your country with and they need you to subscribe. Now is the time for you to sacrifice time and money like you never have before. One organization you can join is the only political party in existence that is big enough to stop the socialists and repair the damage they have done. It is the Republican Party. Get acquainted with their candidates and help them win every election. Be the first kind of person, and make it happen.
